OPTIONAL OR SPECIAL INSTRUCTIONS FOR ESSAY AND MULTIPLE CHOICE QUESTIONS:

If you want a page limit for the exam, or a page or line limit for any individual question or questions, answer the questions below.

- Disable Calculator.
Disable Cut & Paste.
Use ExamSoft Electronic Exam Delivery Do NOT provide a hard copy of the questions to students. As a rule, exam question texts are given to the students via a paper copy of the exam. Exam questions can also be delivered to students electronically in ExamSoft. Students will be given a hard copy of the questions, unless you specify that you do NOT want the students to get a hard copy of the questions. To use this option you must submit your exam to TIPS at least ten working days before your exam becomes available.

- Essay Questions: If you do NOT want to use the Default Essay Template, state the number of questions, i.e. 1, 2, 5, 10, etc. The exam template will have that many "question windows." This allows the exam to be printed showing a character count (page or line limit) for each question. (For page to character count conversion see information on the back.) Used mostly for Character limits for each question.

Number of Question Windows: _____

- Do you need Page limit conversion for exam? (TIPS will translate to a character count, Exam will print with character count on cover sheet.)
Do you need Page or Line limit conversions for individual questions? If so, state the line or page limit for each. (TIPS will translate to a character count, Exam will print with count at end of each question.)

Q1 Q2 Q3 Q4 Q5 Q6 Q7 Q8 Q9 Q10 Q11 Q12 Q13 Q14 Q15 Q16 Q17 Q18

- Multiple Choice Questions: (using ExamSoft for student responses only) You may have up to 200 questions. NOTE: Essay Question Windows will appear at the end of the exam after the Multiple Choice Questions if you have both types of questions (e.g. If you have 30 MC questions, the essay will be question 31).
No. of M/C Questions: No. Of M/C Answer Choices: (maximum number of answer choices or "distractors" up to 10 per question)

OPTIONAL OR SPECIAL EXAM PRINT-OUT & DELIVERY OPTIONS:

- Custom formatting: font, font size, spacing, margins: _____

Character Count Conversion Table

Page and Line Limits in Exams Using Character Counts

This character count DOES count spaces and returns. This is because that is what will automatically appear on the student screen while the student is typing the exam.¹

10 pages double-spaced = 22,000 characters

12 pages double-spaced = 26,400 characters

15 pages double-spaced = 33,000 characters

1 line with 1" margins = 100 characters

5 lines, double-spaced = 500 characters

10 lines, double-spaced = 1000 characters

Page Limits in Exams Using Word Counts

Examsoft counts words by counting the "space" characters. Every space = one word. That means "supercalifragilisticexpialidocious" is the same as "1 ." A conversion of words per line or page is much less exact than a conversion of characters. However, a reasonable average from a few exams is:

330 words per double-spaced page with 1" margins.

One must choose EITHER a character count or a word count. It will be confusing and difficult for a student to attempt to monitor both, and depending on word length, different people can hit the character limit before they hit the word limit, or vice versa. The character count gives the least variation since everyone has the same character limit no matter the length of the words.

Blue Book Conversions

Transcribing into blue books the same exams used to determine the word and character equivalencies above, gives the following conversion:

10 double-spaced Examsoft pages = 12 single-spaced blue book pages

12 double-spaced Examsoft pages = 14 single-spaced blue book pages

15 double-spaced Examsoft pages = 18 single-spaced blue book pages

General

Check the character count on the cover sheet to see if the student stayed within the limit.

The printed exam may have more pages than the amount set as the limit. When exams are printed, additional information is included in the exam that is not included in the student's character count. The exam may contain information noting the start of a question, or additional empty lines may be created by a student hitting the return bar, or there may be additional lines or spaces created by the student hitting the space bar.
