Overview:

The Senegal program focuses on the historical, cultural, and socio-economic institutions of sub-Saharan Francophone Africa. Study takes place in Senegal's largest city, Dakar. Courses are taught by Africa Consultants International (ACI) and University Cheikh Anta Diop of Dakar (UCAD) faculty. Topics include colonial heritage, post-colonial politics, contemporary Senegalese society, West African art history, West African oral literature, sustainable development, and environmental issues. All coursework is in French. Housing is with host families. The program includes research trips to various sites in Dakar and to Gorée Island (an island near Dakar which served as a major center for the slave trade), Saint Louis (Senegal's second largest city), and the area of the Siné-Saloum delta (a national nature preserve containing wildlife, mangroves, lagoons, open forests, dunes, and sand islands). Students also conduct field study in a Senegalese village.
