

Accessing the Lewis & Clark Year 7 Self-Study Report

The site you are about to access is an archive containing approximately 700 supporting documents- it takes a while to open and may be slow to navigate. PLEASE be patient and allow the site to load; it could take several minutes

Once it loads, you will be taken directly to the table of contents:

The screenshot shows the 'Accreditation' section of the Lewis & Clark website. The header includes the college name and navigation links. 2.A.4

The institution has a functioning governing board consisting of at least five voting members, a majority of whom have no contractual, employment, or financial interest in the institution. If the institution is governed by a hierarchical structure of multiple boards, the roles, responsibilities, and authority of each board-as they relate to the institution-are clearly defined, widely communicated, and broadly understood.

Narrative

Lewis & Clark College is organized as an Oregon non-profit corporation. Under its Bylaws, the Board of Trustees is vested with authority to exercise all corporate powers prescribed by law and to establish the educational, financial and operating policies of the College. Currently there are 27 Trustees. The President of the College, and the presidents of the alumni associations of the three schools serve as ex-officio voting members of the Board. Faculty and student representatives to the Board of Trustees are elected or appointed by each of the three schools to serve one year terms as advisory, non-voting representatives to the Board: there are two faculty representatives and two student representatives from the College of Arts and Sciences, and one faculty representative and one student representative from both the Law School and the Graduate School.

The Board meets at least three times a year (October, February, and May). The May meeting of the Board is designated as the annual meeting for the election of officers. The Bylaws specify the officers of the Board to be the Chair and Vice Chairs.

For more information on the Board of Trustees please see http://www.lclark.edu/about/leadership/board_of_trustees/.

Once you are done reviewing, you can click on the green arrow at the top right to advance to the next section (or to go back to the previous section).

One caveat: the arrows only appear on the pages with the Standard subsections. Main heading pages (Overview, Preface, Standard One, Standard Two, etc) do not have arrows; you need to click on the Accreditation (2018) link to get back to the table of contents/list of sections page.

You also will not get to those pages via the green arrows. For example, at the end of Standard Two (2.G.8), if you click the green arrow pointing right, you will get to 3.A.1, not Standard Three with the Executive Summary of Eligibility Requirements 22 and 23. (This is a known limitation with Campus Labs and they are discussing solutions).

Please note that in some sections a folder will appear with a (+) next to it. Clicking that (+) will open the folder to show additional artifacts or subfolders with additional artifacts.
