Thomas, A. & Grimes, J. (Eds.) (2008). Best practices in school psychology V. Bethesda, Maryland: NASP.
Both of these texts can be ordered at nasponline.org. There is a significant discount for NASP members.

Course Description:
The internship experience is designed to provide students with the final year of training to obtain the EdS in School Psychology and/or eligibility for licensure in Oregon and national certification through the National Association of School Psychologists. Interns function as practicing school psychologists in a K-12 school environment, under the close supervision of licensed, experienced school psychologists on-site and campus supervisor(s) during the internship course. Interns will provide school psychology services in consultation, counseling, assessment, intervention development, and program evaluation. Regular on-campus seminar meetings allow for group supervision and for instruction in a variety of current issues. Cultural diversity issues will be interwoven through professional case presentations. Legal, ethical, and professional standards will be addressed throughout the course. In addition, as the year progresses and interns near completion of their training, assistance in preparing for the job search process will be provided.

Goals:
• Students will complete a 1200-hour internship in the public schools. These 1200 hours will include at least 50 hours at preschool, 100 hours at the elementary level, and 100 hours at the secondary level. Students must complete at least 100 hours of consultation and 50 hours of counseling. Assessment work is to be no less than 20% and no more than 40% of the internship experience.
• Students will weekly complete at least two hours of supervision with on-site supervisors throughout the year and complete class time for group supervision with the Lewis and Clark supervisors. This will allow ample opportunity to discuss the process of developing independent skills to become a school psychologist.
• Students will complete all paperwork to complete the coursework as well as graduation and licensure requirements.
• Students will develop a professional portfolio.
• Students will become familiar with school district, state, and national norms for assessment, consultation, and counseling.
• Students will complete reports of the students they assess; these reports must all be co-signed by site supervisors. These reports will include interventions that are guided by assessment results.
• Students will perform an efficacy study, showing the results of their interventions on one individual or specific group.
• Students will participate in case presentations weekly, both formally and informally.
• Students will develop a topical presentation for class and an inservice for school staff.
Non-Discrimination Policy and Special Assistance: Lewis & Clark College adheres to a nondiscriminatory policy with respect to employment, enrollment, and program. The College does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, creed, religion, sex, national origin, age, handicap or disability, sexual orientation, or marital status and has a firm commitment to promote the letter and spirit of all equal opportunity and civil rights laws. If you need course adaptations or accommodations because of a disability and/or you have emergency medical information to share please make an appointment with the instructor.

Course Structure: The internship class is a year-long class. The on-campus seminar is offered on Friday mornings. Part I is offered in the fall for four semester hours. Part II and III are offered in the spring and summer for three total semester hours and will continue what was begun in the fall. There are two sections for the course with a maximum of 10 interns per section. Usually, the sections meet together from 9:00-10:00 for special topic presentations. From 10:00-11:00, interns will make formal case presentations in their separate sections; from 11:00-1:00, group supervision will occur. After class, there will also be time for individual consultation with the college supervisors. If the on-campus seminar is not held, interns are expected to be on-site in their district for the entire school day.

Interns will meet together with their Lewis and Clark campus supervisor and their site supervisor(s) a minimum of one time for individual supervision in the early fall semester and thereafter as needed to meet individual learning goals as determined by either supervisor or by student request. There will be at least one on-site meeting during the fall semester, including the intern, the on-site supervisor, and the campus supervisor.

Professional Standards: Interns are expected to follow professional standards, including adherence to legalities and ethics. In addition, interns need to show a respectful demeanor towards students, parents, professional peers, and others. Professional dress is expected. Interns need to be timely in completing work; they must honor class attendance and hours. Department policy is that students may miss one class each semester, with appropriate make-up work, but if two classes are missed, the student is in danger of failing the class. If Interns miss or are tardy for a class, their grade will be impacted and they need to discuss required make-up work with the campus supervisor. Interns are expected to use appropriate professional tools, including technological tools, as needed and appropriate. Interns are expected to be aware of and respect diversity and multicultural issues. Please see the attached form for grading standards.

Assignments:
1. Reports: Assessments/Interventions:
Interns are expected to gain experience with a wide variety of students, ages 3-21, throughout the year. At a minimum, interns will complete four full assessments and will follow most of these cases from the time of the initial referral through intervention (or IEP) and follow-up stages. All reports generated by interns over the course of the internship will be reviewed, edited and co-signed by the primary on-site supervisors. At least four assessment/intervention reports and appropriate rewrites will be reviewed by the LC campus supervisor.

Interns should seek to assess children with a variety of possible disabilities, including Specific Learning Disabilities, Mental Retardation, and Emotional Disabilities. In addition, interns should look for opportunities to assess children who may be Gifted, Autistic/PDD, OHI, or TBI. You must remove identifying information from the final reports that go in your portfolio, but identifying information may be included in the reports you give your Lewis and Clark supervisor.
2. Presentations:

Informal Presentations: Each week, during group supervision, each intern is expected to come prepared to informally present information on cases (counseling, assessment, and consultation) on which they are working. The purpose of these informal presentations will be to receive feedback and support from the cohort.

Formal Case Presentations: In addition to these weekly discussions, two formal cases will be required each semester. Specific dates will be assigned for the presentations.

Each formal presentation consists of written and oral descriptions of different cases involving a child or adolescent.

An assessment/intervention case consists of a written and oral description, including background information, responses to pre-referral interventions, an integrated psychological report, a child interview, a parent interview, and goals/objectives /accommodations. One assessment/intervention presentation is due each semester.

One formal presentation of a counseling case is due in the fall; it includes specific treatment goals, and details/samples of the work.

One formal presentation of a consultation case is required in the spring and consists of a teacher interview, on-going treatment plans, case notes, and a summary of the work to date. Please note that we would expect that you would start the consultation relationship during the fall semester and start documenting the background and your process. Your presentation will include a narrative description of the stages involved in the consultation (e.g. referral, problem identification & analysis, and intervention planning & monitoring.) Also included in your report must be a reflection on what you learned from the consultation, including what was successful and what you would change. When you present, please bring copies of any tools (observation forms, etc) that you used in your consultation.

3. Topic Presentations: In addition to these four formal presentations and reports, each intern is expected to choose a topic pertinent to school psychology and present one topic to members of their cohort in the fall semester. Copies of a one-page summary, with references in APA style, should be provided to the entire cohort. Topics from Best Practices V are acceptable; other topics must be approved by the LC supervisor.

4. In-service: Interns are required to plan and provide at least one in-service training workshop or session during the school year. This in-service may be provided to any group associated with your school. Interns will provide brief summaries to both site and college supervisors of the in-service along with supplementary handouts, including the specific goals, the invitation/announcement to attend and the feedback forms completed by the members in attendance. Be prepared to share results and handouts during section meetings.

5. Paper on Effects on Student Learning and/or Environment (SP Internship Form 7)

As part of Lewis and Clark’s NASP recertification process, the department has been asked for documentation on measureable positive results you have seen in integrating your knowledge and skills in your work with children and families. For this assignment, please prepare an in-class oral presentation and 2-3 page report as follows:

1. Leaving out identifying information, describe a child/adolescent with whom you have worked this year.
2. Describe the issues on which you have worked.
3. Describe your interventions, such as through IEP implementation and evaluation, counseling or consultation.
4. Describe measurable results. Ways you can measure results include: a review of records (attendance/discipline/referrals/grades/standardized testing), reports and IEP data, and/or interviews with child, parent, and teacher.
5. Provide a bibliography, in APA style, of your readings/resource materials, including at least one article from NASP Best Practices in School Psychology V.

Note: Work with your site supervisor to determine whether written parent permission and/or an IEP review are required for this project. This project addresses the NASP training requirement that “candidates are able to integrate domains of knowledge and apply professional skills in delivering a comprehensive range of services as evidenced by measurable positive impact on children, youth and families.”

6. Log of activities and hours: Interns must document (in hard copy) that they have met at least the following hour requirements:

- 1200 hours of internship related activities
- 100 hours in an elementary setting; 100 hours in a secondary setting; 50 hours in a preschool setting; settings are those defined by your school district
- 100 hours of consultation; 50 hours of counseling
- 100 hours with “regular” education students
-  2 hours a week of individual on-site field supervision, at least one of which must be with your primary on-site supervisor and consists of regularly scheduled, dedicated time to supervision. The second hour may be with your primary or secondary on-site supervisors. This requirement is not met in informal, brief supervisory communications and is expected to be uninterrupted by phone calls or other activities of the supervisor or intern. These meetings are expected to be scheduled regularly on a weekly basis. If one of you must miss the meeting due to illness or other crisis, the meeting time must be rescheduled during the week.

Logging requirements: Document everything you do on the job and who you are working with including students, teachers, parents, school staff, outside agencies, etc. This would include anything you do for your job including consultation, counseling, assessments, class work, supervision, emailing, researching topics, review of records, and so forth. In addition, a final one-page summary of your hours is required at the end of the fall semester (Dec. 9) and at the end of the year (May 10). (See SP Internship Form 4.) Also due at the end of the fall semester is an example of case notes on one student with whom you have worked.

6. Portfolio:
Prior to program completion, each intern will turn in a copy of their portfolio to the CPSY Administrative Assistant which must include an updated resume, two up-to-date letters of reference, copies of all fall and spring forms (#1-10), your best report(s) with names removed, insurance information, your consultation report with names removed, and any other documentation from internship that you might want to include. Items may include but are not limited to work samples, presentations/inservices you have given, documentation of professional conferences and inservices attended, behavior plans that you have written, your consultation and inservice reports, and/or notes of thanks from teachers, parents, or students. You may also include a section from practicum.

7. Praxis II:
Complete the Praxis II. This will fulfill the requirements of a comprehensive examination.
